International Diploma in Educational Planning and Administration (IDEPA)

NUEPA offers a widely acclaimed International Diploma in Educational Planning and Administration (IDEPA) for the senior educational policy makers, planners and administrators annually to the international participants. IDEPA was started in the year 1985 as a sequel to the recommendations of the sub-regional meeting for Asian countries organised by the Indian National Commission for Cooperation with UNESCO in 1983. The National University has successfully completed as many as twenty-nine such IDEPA Programmes, one in each successive year. Over the years, participation in terms of number of countries and participants has increased considerably.

Until now, a total of 760 trainees from 90 countries of Africa, Eastern Europe, Central Asia, West Asia, South and South-East Asia, Latin America and Pacific regions have participated in the Programme.

Aim

IDEPA endeavours to promote the spirit of regional cooperation, international understanding and goodwill through exchange of experiences on subject matter and issues important to the development of human resource. With this mission, it aims at augmenting capabilities and competencies in educational planning and administration.

Objectives

The International Diploma Programme has gained its uniqueness over the years by continual updating of its objectives and course structures in order to keep pace with the changing scenario. The Programme in general strives to understand educational developments in the developing countries with particular reference to policy, planning and management – especially on quality and equity issues relating to school, vocational and higher education.

IDEPA encompasses the principles, concepts and techniques of educational planning, supervision, administration, management and leadership for fulfilling the national goals and meeting local requirements of various countries. In this regard, it tries to develop skills of analysis, statistical interpretation, forecasting, project preparation for macro and micro level educational planning, on the one hand, and effective managerial leadership skills in educational administration, project management and programme implementation on the other.

2. Heads of educational institutions (school, college), regional and district education departments, functionaries working in the university system, teacher-training colleges who are likely to assume higher responsibilities in educational planning and administration.

Programme Design

The IDEPA Programme is of six months duration and is conducted in two phases.

First Phase (1 February-30 April 2014 at NUEPA)

The first Phase of the programme involves three months intensive curricular work at NUEPA, New Delhi. This Phase is residential and participants are required to stay in the campus throughout this phase.

Second Phase (1 May-31 July 2014 in Home Country)

The second phase entails a Field Research Project Work in the participant's home country, through his/her own efforts (guidance for which will be provided during the first phase and will continue during this phase also.)

Programme Methodology

The overall methodology of the Programme seeks to strike a balance between theory and practice. Broadly, it includes lecture-discussions, practical exercises and group-discussions. Further, panel discussions and thematic seminars are organised for encouraging the participants to act as part of the faculty and share the responsibilities among themselves. The Programme also lays emphasis on academic exercise at the micro level, besides focusing on educational and cultural field visits, and seminars by eminent educationists.

Course Overview

The course consists of three major components: intensive curricular work; applied work; and dissertation.

During the first phase intensive curricular work and applied work is carried out for the duration of three months' at NUEPA. The intensive curricular work consists of thirteen courses on educational planning and management. Correspondingly, the applied work consists of Thematic Seminar, Research Design of a Project Work and Educational Study Visit.

Thematic Seminar is an integral part of the training programme that provides opportunity to each participant or a group of participants from one country to share his/her/their views based on factual data and experience on the theme. Seminar Theme for the 2014 Diploma Programme is “Role of Training and Capacity Building Institutions for Training Educational Personnel”. Participants are, therefore, requested to bring along with them relevant data and material pertaining to the above theme and also present the unique features of the education system of their own country.

During the second phase of the Programme, which takes place in the participant's home country, each participant is required to work on the Field Research Project selected by him/her during First Phase. The participant, after completion of the research project (within three months) has to submit dissertation to NUEPA.
